Quick compromise needed for beach

BY MARY G. SEILEY

A key state official says he's confident a compromise can be reached to allow Hancock County's beach renourishment program to proceed.

Joe Gill Jr., deputy director of the Bureau of Marine Resources, said Tuesday he's convinced that the project's purpose of saving the seawall -- and Beach Boulevard -- from erosion, "is a higher public purpose" than protecting a strand of sea grasses.

Gill plans to convene a meeting of all state and federal agencies involved in the project's permitting process, as early as Friday, to hammer out a compromise. That may involve allowing the project to proceed southward, but at a width of 100 feet rather than 200 feet. The sea grasses at issue extend up to 400 feet into the Sound, at some points, officials say.

Meanwhile, Bay St. Louis city officials are scrambling to get permits to extend the renourishment from Washington Street northward to the Highway 90 bridge. And the chief operating officer of Jubilee Casino asked that renourishment be considered for the tip end of Beach Boulevard.

But time is critical, as officials ponder the fate of the existing and future renourishment plans. The contractor doing the work is within two weeks of reaching the newly-mandated stopping point, and may pull out of town before the various agencies involved in the issue can reach accord.

Gill's comments came after a two-hour meeting convened by the Board of Supervisors, who were recently hit with the news that BMR is curtailing the renourishment program at Dane Street, 1.3 miles short of its original stopping point.

Gill said he hadn't been actively involved in the decision making that led to BMR's decision to cut the project short.

Coach Favre resigns from Hancock High

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

Longtime head football coach Irvin Favre submitted his resignation to the Hancock County School Board Monday through Joseph Gex, his attorney at a special meeting.

Favre said, "Joseph and I did some research prior to the meeting and decided it would not be good for the school system, or my family to continue."

"We still feel we could have won, but it would have been a long and costly battle and I sure did not want to hurt the school system," Favre added Wednesday.

Favre, head coach at Hancock for 24 years, had requested the hearing when the school board failed to renew his contract for the coming year. His contract was recommended by Superintendent Myrna Bourgeois and High School Principal David Kopf.

Favre still feels the school board should have discussed any problems they may have had with him prior to the meeting when they rejected renewal of his contract.

Two weeks ago Favre said, "If they had some problem with me, they should have given me the courtesy of discussing it with me."

Favre said he had turned in a request for retirement, but would possibly have liked to continue for another year until his youngest child graduated from the system in 1995.

Injured St. Stanislaus teen to undergo surgery

BY MARY G. SEILEY

A 17-year-old St. Stanislaus student who was injured in a diving accident Sunday was transported by helicopter to Jackson on Wednesday for surgery.

Brother Paul Montero, president of the school, said Silas Simmons "Sim" Hicks was to be taken from Memorial Hospital at Gulfport to St. Thomas Hospital in Jackson.

Montero said the operation to fuse two damaged vertebrae is hoped to enable the youth some movement of his head. Several days after the surgery, Hicks is to be transferred to Methodist Rehabilitation Center in Jackson for physical therapy, Montero said.

Hicks was told by his physicians that in all probability, he won't be able to walk again.

Hicks was in critical condition after a diving accident at Henderson Point, where he dove from a pier into the Bay of St. Louis at Sandy Hook Drive.

A fellow student pulled him from the water when he didn't surface.

Montero said Hicks, of Natchez, was in "very positive" spirits when he visited with him Monday afternoon. "He said he's ready to get on with his therapy," He described the student as "very alert and very upbeat."

Casino apartments rejected by city

BY MARY G. SEILEY

Bay St. Louis City Council rejected a controversial apartment complex proposal Tuesday, but warned it may not be dead for long.

Council also agreed to help buy another mini-bus to boost area transit services, and to launch an extensive test program for the city's aging sewer line system.

Casino Magic's plans for a 100-unit apartment complex on Blue Meadow Road were rejected, based on recommendations from the Planning and Zoning Commission.

Despite rapid and definitive 5-0 action by council on the issue, some spectators were so hot that Council President James Thriffley told them to abide by rules of order or leave the room.

The casino had asked for rezoning to allow apartment construction on a 4.9-acre tract west of Bay High School. The residential complex primarily would house casino workers.

Council agreed with the commission, however, that the project density was too much for the over-burdened Blue Meadow Road.

They noted that consultants drafting a comprehensive plan for the city will address the issue of the need for new housing, and where it should be located.

Although there was not a hint that council would approve the rezoning, a representative of Jourdan Isles Improvement Association voiced objections to it, saying Casino Magic "has destroyed the serenity of the area" by adding traffic to Blue Meadow.

Another man then challenged the first speaker's right to address council, since Jourdan Isles subdivision isn't in the city limits. That brought Thriffley to his feet to restore order.

Although the commission and council rejected the rezoning request, city officials say it could be resubmitted in another form at any time. A "special exception" to city zoning could be considered, in lieu of a full zoning change. That route would give the city more say over how the complex is designed and built, with potential requirements for lessening its impact.

In another matter, council agreed to a request from Mayor Eddie Favre to allocate some $12,000 for a new mini-bus. The rest of its purchase cost is available under federal grants.

Favre said the Coast Transit Authority bus would be used to provide transportation between the city and Buccaneer State Park, transporting vacationers to the heart of town. County officials recently rejected a request from CTA to help finance such a new line.

In response to a question from council member Tad Black, Favre said the new route wouldn't, at this point, connect with Jubilee Casino. Black said if it does, the casino should help foot the bill for it.

The city just launched one new CTA minibus on Tuesday, providing a new in-town route to area shopping centers, with connections to the Beachcomber Trolley.

In a related matter, council appointed local merchant Bob Travers to the CTA board of directors.

In other matters, council agreed to seek proposals for

Concert in park, parade scheduled

BY MARY G. SEILEY

Bay St. Louis is gearing up for a spring concert in City Hall Park, and discussing ways to improve other area recreation.

The May 14th concert is a resumption of events the city and area businesses sponsored in years past, but which were discontinued as interest waned.

Mayor Eddie Favre said there's enough renewed interest in the concert program, however to reinstate it.

City Council agreed Tuesday to finance up to $1,200 for the function, including food and beverages and a band.

Meanwhile, council members discussed upgrading facilities at area parks and the potential uses of a refurbished gymnasium at the Valena C. Jones complex. Some repairs for the gym already have been financed, and others are in the planning stages.

George Broulx of the Parks and Recreation Department, said the city is buying new equipment such as swing sets and slides to install in several area parks, while preparing to launch the popular youth baseball and t-ball programs for the season.

Casino Magic again to sponsor summer youth work program

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

The second annual Assisting Youth with Summer Employment program, (AYSE), sponsored by Casino Magic, is now underway.

The program involves students, high school and college, who work at community businesses, and 50% of salary is reimbursed by Casino Magic.

Eric Labat is the coordinator for the program and reports last year 16 students were placed with the program.

A goal of 30 students has been set for this summer's three-month program.

What does AYSE do? —Provides job opportunities for students in our local communities.

—Promotes on-the-job training. —Contributes to the education of the students involved. —Motivates students to be more disciplined, ambitious, and successful, thereby helping themselves and their employers.

—Provides an on-going employment opportunity for students who maintain satisfactory performance.

How does AYSE benefit the employer?

The program is an economical way for your local business to insure a bright future for the youth of Hancock County.

You'll not only be training a deserving youth in your particular field of business, you'll also be expanding your work and increasing productivity in the most cost efficient manner possible, because Casino Magic will reimburse your company for one half of the wages you pay each of the students you employ within the program wage and salary guidelines.

One of last year's employers, Audrey Comeaux of Yellowbird, had this to say, "The program worked exceptionally well for us at Yellowbird. Our summer employee fit right in with the rest of the staff."

She continued, "She did her job well, and we look forward to participating in the program again this year. I recommend AYSE to any merchant who because he'd been tied up with the state Legislature during its recent session.

BMR's Gary Cuevas said last week the agency's decision was based on newly-discovered sea grasses known as ruppia maritima, an important part of the food chain.

The submerged grasses are rare along Mississippi's shoreline, BMR says, although they are not an endangered or protected species. Gill said, in fact, the vegetation is "a common variety of sea grass."

Gerald Gex, attorney for the Board of Supervisors, kicked off Tuesday's meeting by asking BMR officials and John Winn of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, "What do you value more... growing grass or human life?" Gex also asked whether BMR or the county should be held responsible if Beach Boulevard collapses, causing a fatality.

The county's beach renourishment program has been in the making for more than a decade. It was launched as the most economical way to protect the seawall from continued erosion.

Gex stressed the dangers of allowing the tidal action to damage the seawall, creating voids under Beach Boulevard and threatening its integrity as a roadway.

Jeff Taylor of Gulf Regional Planning Commission, drew applause from the packed meeting room for his defense of the renourishment programs. He said all the agencies involved in the issue are charged with weighing the public's interests in addition to environmental protection.

Taylor said while there's been no official survey to determine how extensive the grasses are along the coast, "here in the 11th hour," the vegetation threatens to kill the project. "There's something wrong," with that, said Taylor.

Supervisors also urged relief. "We only have two weeks... We need help. We need it bad," said Supervisor Wilmer Seymour. Supervisor Howard Lizana said while the sea grass at issue isn't on the endangered species list, "our road is."

Supervisor Robert Peterson said the road is in such poor shape in some areas, it can't bear the truck weight necessary to have sand transported over it to the Buccaneer State Park area. BMR has suggested instead of pumping sand into that area, some could be trucked to the site and used to build up a small beach there.

Officials heard not only from the board but also from angered members of the Sand Beach Committee, a citizens' panel that has steered the project from its inception. Citizens quizzed the state and federal officials extensively on the value of the sea grasses and their extent.

Chancery Clerk Michael Necaise urged the officials to find "a happy medium" between protecting the grasses and allowing the project to proceed. "We're all funded... all paid by the same people," Necaise said. The dispute, he added, "is hard to comprehend."

Alternatives to the sand-pumping program were rejected by county officials. They said building bulkheads to protect the seawall would add some $2.2 million to the project -- money the county doesn't have. And installing rip-rap along the wall would be too dangerous to beach goers, they argued.

icipating youths is set from Eckers to the city's ballfield complex.

Council member Tad Black said the city should consider removing basketball hoops from the city park on Seventh Street, because older youths who frequent the park are spoiling the fun for children and disturbing the neighborhood peace.

Rowdy, "16- and 17-year-olds who can't watch their mouth" at times dominate the park, said Black. Parents don't want to take their children to the park when there's a lot of basketball activity in progress, he said.

Council President James Thrifflay said he's hoping the city can hire supervisory personnel to visit the parks and make sure the facilities aren't ruined by such activity. Black said hopefully most of the basketball "hype" can be relocated to the gym when it's refurbished.

Broulx said he hopes the gym also can be used to accommodate other types of sports: volleyball, for instance, and supervised activities for younger children. In addition, he said he hopes to be able to offer the gym to adults for activities at night.

The tests will define where the city's lines are damaged to the point that ground water seeps into the system.

In another public works matter, council agreed to advertise for bids to install a drainage pump station at Spanish Acres subdivision. The project is hoped to correct serious flooding problems in the residential area.

Favre on Wednesday said the reasons the school board gave for not renewing his contract dated back to 1980, and this indicated, "they did not want me there any longer."

The board also agreed Monday to remove from Favre's record anything related to the non-renewal of his contract.

Favre said, "I gave my all at Hancock and if you really get down to it, the reasons (they gave for non-renewal), many went back to politics, no doubt about it."

"I have several options; I am still a young man, I feel I am a good coach and have a good reputation and did a fine job at Hancock."

Favre continued, "As you know, when I started at Hancock we had very little for a football team, everybody wanted us on their schedule for an easy win."

Hancock moved from a 1-A, 2-A, 3-A, to its current status as a 4-A contender as the school's enrollment increased.

The Hawks won back to back Division 4-A championships in 1989-90 and participated in six bowl games under Favre's guidance.

CUEVAS QUOTES

By Ellis C. Cuevas

From time to time I receive copies of articles from various newspapers about former residents of the area, and I really appreciate the information.

The following is a clipping from the Grapevine column in the New Orleans Times Picayune reporting about Walden Curry, a teacher in the Orleans Parish School System and part-time strength coach at Newman High.

The former Bay resident recently finished second to former Olympic jumper Dwight Stones at the Masters National Track and Field Championships held in Columbia, MO.

Stones jumped 6 feet, 11 inches for a world mark in the 40-44-year-old age group, while Curry, who jumped 6-2 1/4 inches, is training for the outdoor nationals to be held in August.

A note along with the clipping reported how Curry is the son of Isabell Curry of Bay St. Louis.

While at Bay High he was coached by J.E. Loiacano and still holds the school high jump record with 6 feet, 6 inches, which won a state title.

At Delta State University Curry won five NAIA high jump titles and did a personal best of 7 feet, 3 1/4 inches. He competed in the 1972 Olympic trials but failed to make the team.

Curry continues his track and field endeavors on the Masters level, where he is competing in the 40-44-year-old bracket.

He is a member of the Louisiana Lightning Track Club.

Best of luck to Curry in his upcoming competitions. It is always good to receive reports about former residents who do well in sports or any other field.

It is official now. Bay St. Louis has a bus service five days a week.

The bus runs on a one-hour frequency and provides service to all of the Bay's shopping centers, the Valena C. Jones Complex and the Human Service Department. The hours of operation are from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

For times of service and specific routes, call 255-8020.

The bus service is provided by matching funds from Bay St. Louis and the Federal Transit Administration. The amount of use of the bus service, just like the trolley service, will be monitored. It will be important to use the service.

Saturday is the day of the Casino Magic-sponsored annual Mississippi Coast Regional National Chili Cook-off.

The public is invited to attend and taste. A 'taster cup' will cost $1 and allows the holder to taste from each pot.

All proceeds from this event go to the Bay St. Louis Doll and Toy Fund.

Tasting will begin after 2 p.m. in the Big Tent at Casino Magic.

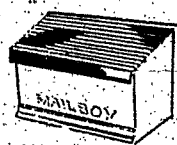

More than 50 teams have registered for the cook-off, so one can get a lot of tasting in for the $1. Nine of the teams are from this state.

Entertainment is to be provided by the Garland Moran band.

There will be a big prize for the top winner, to be judged by local judges. First place prize is $500, second $300 and third $200.

A lot more is at stake for the best at Casino Magic, as the top winner will qualify for the Nevada world finals for $25,000.

I hope to see you at the Chili Cook-off.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Kiwanis/Health Department sponsor 'Shots for Tots'

Dear Editor:

This year the Kiwanis Club of Hancock County, in cooperation with the Hancock Health Department, will be conducting their annual "Shots for Tots" in the Bay-Waveland area May 6 at Coast Electric's Conference Center, corner Main Street and Hwy. 90 from 7-9:30 a.m. and 2:30-5 p.m.

Shots will be given free to those who are not in the position to bear the expense, while all others will be given at the nominal fee of $5 per vaccine.

These will protect a child from measles, polio, tetanus, whooping cough, mumps, diphtheria, German measles, hepatitis B and haemophilus influenza b.

Health experts recommend that every child should be immunized against these nine common diseases by the age of two, but more than 300 local kids between two and six aren't fully immunized.

Another 100 children under age two are already behind on their immunization schedules.

While immunization is our primary objective, the other thought is to make this a festive event that children will enjoy rather than dread.

After their immunization, entertainment will be provided by Ms. Teardrop and Ronald McDonald.

Additionally there will be face painting, free balloons, cake, Borden's ice cream and coupons to McDonald's for each participating child. As a community service, the Waveland and Bay St. Louis Police departments will be providing child identification cards.

What has been the most gratifying part of organizing this event has been the widespread support from local personalities and businesses. McDonald's has provided Ronald and free advertisement, Coast Electric has donated their conference center and some of their staff for the face painting, Borden's the ice cream, Jolly Rogers Printing the printing of all the informational flyers, and the list goes on.

Your article couldn't have come at a more opportune time by informing the public of the problem. This type of program only works if parents are aware of the necessity for their child's immunization.

Please join us in seeing that children in our community get "all their shots while they are tots."

Sincerely,
Harry V. Souchon

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

A Weekly Editorial
From Mississippi Economic Council

Who is a true Hall of Famer?

Who is a true Hall of Famer? Is it a basketball player... a baseball player... or a football player? To some, sure. But to the Mississippi Economic Council, there is another Hall of Famer that is making a much greater impact on the future of our communities than any of these.

For instance, Mrs. Marion Brown, a high school mathematics teacher at Humphreys County High School in Belzoni, has been teaching nearly 27 years. She studied mathematics at Delta State University, receiving both BS and MA degrees. She has also attended Alcorn State University.

This year, for the tenth time in her career, Marion Brown was named by her school's STAR Student as the school's STAR Teacher. By doing so, the STAR Student of 1994, and nine others before her, said Mrs. Brown was the most influential teacher in their primary education.

Mrs. Brown is MEC's 1994 inductee into the STAR Teach Hall of Fame because she has been named STAR Teacher by a STAR Student on 10 different occasions. She has been named by a student on more than a third of her teaching years.

Obviously, being chosen 10 separate times is no coincidence — she's simply one of Mississippi's best teachers. Certainly there are many things that could be said about Mrs. Brown's outstanding career, but her students have said it best. Who could better name the best teacher in the school than the best student in the school?

For her years of dedication and outstanding performance, MEC salutes Marion Brown. Without STAR Teachers like her, there would be no STAR Students.

Patients' role

Ark. Memorial president William H. Martin and staff members are working to make everyone aware of the importance patients play in the Hancock Medical Center's expansion plans. The expansion will enlarge several departments, including outpatient surgery, surgery, x-ray, cardio-pulmonary, out-patient registration, emergency room and new ambulance entrance. There will also be a much larger parking area for out-patients to make it more convenient for the public. ## IN CONGRESS

By Rep. Gene Taylor

Taylor urges franking reform

It is an obscure provision of the law, and not many people outside Washington, D.C. are familiar with it. But ask any member of Congress about the election year franking (mailing) law and they'll be able to clearly recite its intent.

The purpose of the provision, Title 39, of the U.S. Code, is to discourage members of Congress from sending unsolicited mass mailings within the 60-day period before an election.

Even though the intent of the law is clear, there are dozens of members each election cycle who circumvent the law, thereby abusing their mailing privileges.

In a recent report released by the National Taxpayers Union Foundation, about 24 members of the U.S. House of Representatives may have skirted franking laws by sending out thousands of pieces of unsolicited mail just days before the Nov. 3, 1993 election.

While the study found that an overwhelming majority of House members abide to the letter of the law, by sending few, if any, unsolicited mailings, a few members have taken advantage of a loophole.

That loophole allows members to blanket a specific area of their district with mail as long as the mass mailing is less than 500 pieces, per mailing, per day.

The pattern of abuse, by some, is blatant. For instance, during the Nov. 3, 1993 election, a few members sent multiples of 499 unsolicited letters to their constituents just days before the election, thereby skirting the law.

One can make their own assessment as to how the number came to 499 — simply bundle the letters in groups of 499, and mail them on separate days and you're in no trouble.

As a strong supporter of the "Franking Reform Act," my colleagues and I hope to reduce the frequency of unsolicited mailings around election time, thereby saving taxpayers hundreds of thousands of dollars a year.

As of now, the number of mailings by several members indicate a pattern of abuse, or possible abuse, in certain cases.

The bill, which has been endorsed by the National Taxpayers Union, would prohibit an individual member who has his or her name appearing on a ballot from sending any unsolicited mail 60 days prior to an election.

A member could simply respond to incoming mail and telephone calls, inquirers from federal, state or local government officials and send news releases.

The "business-as-usual" mentality must come to an end. The current law allows incumbent candidates to bypass franking regulations and pass the costs on to the American taxpayer.

The Franking Commission, which has oversight of Congressional mass mailings, has had numerous complaints that individual members are circumventing the law. The only thing my colleagues and I want to do is close the loophole, thereby making enforcement of the law possible.

FROM THE SENATE

The President's drug strategy

The President recently traveled to a county correctional center outside of Washington where he unveiled to inmates his national drug strategy to redirect funds from interdiction and law enforcement programs toward more treatment for drug abusers.

As reported by The Washington Post, he plans to spend nine percent less in 1995 on drug programs than is being spent this year. Most of that funding — about $800 million — would be allotted for prevention and treatment programs aimed at chronic drug abusers.

His plan reduces funding for interdiction of foreign drugs by $95 million and cuts money for drug-operation intelligence by $600,000 from 1994 levels.

I do not object to a broad-based drug program, but I am concerned that this Administration's new emphasis is in the wrong direction. Education and rehabilitation certainly are important parts of a whole strategy, but we need to put a strong emphasis on stopping drugs in their country of origin, particularly in South America.

We also need to maintain our commitment to the interdiction of drugs coming into this country through the use of military and Coast Guard aircraft and ships. Otherwise, we are inviting drug cartels to expand their drug shipments to the United States.

If we do not hang tough in trying to stop drugs coming across our borders, we will end up with more and cheaper

Pearl River's concert band festival today

Pearl River Community College's Music Department will present its third annual Concert Band Festival at 2 p.m. today in Moody Hall Auditorium.

Ten area bands will participate. The event is open to the public at no charge.

"The festival is a service to bands in our area," said Archie Rawls, chairman of the PRCC Music Department. "It gives the bands an opportunity for exposure under competition."

Each junior and senior high school band will be judged on three selections of their choice and on sight reading.

Bands attending will include the St. Stanislaus High School and Bay High School bands.

too many of the most vulnerable—the infants and toddlers—remain unsafe.

To better reach those unprotected children, the Mississippi State Department of Health will step up vaccination efforts. Mississippi joins the Childhood Immunization Initiative's National Outreach Campaign in recognizing April 23-29 as National Infant Immunization Week.

All children should complete immunizations before age two.

The Hancock County Health Department will offer shots Friday, April 22, 1 to 6 p.m.

In Mississippi, parents do a great job of getting children their first few vaccinations at two, four and six months. But the follow-up immunizations they should get at 12 to 15 months are often postponed or forgotten, said Liane Hostler, director of MSDH's Immunization program.

Often, a combination of vaccines against various diseases can be administered through a single shot. But parents need to take their children for at least four visits to ensure the effectiveness of all vaccinations.

"Both private and public providers work hard to get our children immunized," Hostler said. "We've found that this extra effort on our part can help so many children. Most parents we call thought their children already had all their immunizations."

National Immunization Week only begins the nation's and Mississippi's efforts to more fully protect all children.

Riley performs at Jubilee

Country fans will be thoroughly entertained when Jeanne C. Riley takes the stage at Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino's Cabaret Carnivale April 21-26.

Although best known for country favorites such as "The Back Side of Dallas," "There Never Was A Time" and her chart-topping hit "Harper Valley PTA," Riley and her band offer a sound spiced with bluegrass, R&B, gospel and 50's rock influences.

She will perform twice nightly, with the first show beginning at 8 p.m. and the second at 11 p.m. Reservations are required, and there is a two-drink minimum.

Through the rest of the year, the State Department of Health will continue to work with both private and public partners to reinforce the message that immunizations save lives.

"The point we need to stress is that young children need a series of immunizations," Hostler said. "If a baby gets her first two shots, that's good. But to be fully protected, she needs a few more."

drugs on our streets, which will only overwhelm the very rehabilitation programs on which the President says he wants to focus.

I am particularly concerned that the President is not taking into consideration the rights of victims of drug users and traffickers in putting together this new strategy.

Local prosecutors, police officers and sheriffs in Mississippi tell me that a big part of their crime problems are drug-related. Much of their crime is driven by the drug lords, by teenagers involved in pushing drugs on the street, and by the users.

They predict drug crimes will only go up if their funding commitment to get drug offenders off the street is diverted to programs which do not punish the criminals.

Our priority should be to arrest the hardened thugs who sell drugs to our children, who commit crimes to support their drug habits, and who use firearms in carrying out their criminal activities.

They deserve to be locked away, some for good, and even face the death penalty in many cases.

The President last November signalled a policy shift in drug strategy tilting toward the problems of the user. He decimated the staff of the Office of National Drug Control Policy, once headed by Mississippi's own Dr. Carlton Turner, in order to fulfill a pledge to make an overall reduction in the White House staff. Interestingly enough, he did not make proportionate cuts in the rest of the White House staff.

That indication of this Administration's priorities is what concerns me most about the President's drug strategy announcement.

There's something new to remember. From now on, when you make long distance calls to telephone numbers within Mississippi's 601 area code, dial 0 or 1 + 601 and then the number you're calling.

The nation's continued telecommunications growth has created a shortage of telephone numbers. By dialing the appropriate area code on all long distance calls, numbers are freed up for new business and residential customers.

If you have long distance numbers within the 601 area code on any programmed services or equipment like Speed Calling, Call Forwarding, modems, or even a FAX machine, now's the time to reprogram them. Effective May 1, 1994, dialing the area code will be necessary to complete long distance calls to telephone numbers within the 601 area.

CHILDREN'S RESEARCH
St. Jude Children's Research Hospital is America's leading childhood cancer research center. It has helped 12,000 families find hope for their children's future. St. Jude is the most devastating childhood diseases, and no child has been denied treatment because of the families' inability to pay.

Nautilus Plus of Diamondhead is sponsoring a "Miracle Mile Walk" Saturday, May 14, starting 9 a.m. at the walking trail, to benefit St. Jude.

Start gathering those pledges now, and to participate in this worthwhile event, call Linda Melton at 255-5994 or Eddie Fernandez, 255-7307.

CLEAN-UP NOTICE

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's Beautification Committee is urging everyone to participate in some type of cleanup during the month of April.

Cleanup, fix-up, repair, adopt-a-road, trash bash, adopt-an-interchange, etc. proclamations by our governor, mayors, boards of supervisors are many in reference to cleanup.

The chamber has adopted the first two miles of Hwy. 607 from I-10 and has scheduled a cleanup for Saturday, April 23.

Anyone wishing to help is urged to gather at the Mississippi Welcome Center entrance at 8 a.m.

Ellis Cuevas, chamber beautification chairman, says, "This is the first section of highway our visitors see when they arrive from the west, and that's the reason it was adopted by the chamber. Just think how great it would be if all the groups, clubs and organizations in Diamondhead would participate in some way and at some place for this event. Let's do more in '94! To adopt a place, road or street, call 467-9048.

PRCC's River Extravaganza raises more than $45,000

Pearl River Community College's Development Foundation raised a little more than $45,000 during its seventh annual River Extravaganza Sunday in Poplarville.

"It was a great success," said Donna Wilson, executive director of the PRCC Development Foundation. "An event of this magnitude would not be possible without the help of hundreds of dedicated people."

The PRCC Foundation sponsors the event to raise funds for student scholarships and teacher enhancement grants, for equipment and supplies. This year's Extravaganza passed last year's total by $5,000.

In less than seven years the Foundation has raised more than $1.5 million from private sources. The Foundation has also funded $325,000 in scholarships for more than 1,125 students. More than $90,000 in student loans and $70,000 in teacher grants have been distributed.

"Your contributions will have a direct influence on the students from our six-county district," said PRCC President Ed Alexander. "The money raised will go where it is needed most. By your participation, more people will have an opportunity for a better quality of life."

Country music recording artist Ronnie McDowell performed as the highlight of the

River Extravaganza

A capacity crowd filled the M. R. White Coliseum during Pearl River Community College's Seventh Annual River Extravaganza Sunday, April 17. Fifteen restaurants from Hattiesburg to the Gulf Coast provided food for the 700 patrons who paid $30 a ticket to attend.

Extravaganza. McDowell, last year's performing artist, returned to the PRCC stage by popular demand.

McDowell received a standing ovation after performing his new single, "What's It Gonna Take," an anthem he wrote addressing crime in America.

"I am so excited and grateful to have so many restaurant owners and their associates to participate year after year," Wilson said. "Without their participation, the Extravaganza would only be a dream."

PRCC welcomed Maria's Mexican Restaurant of Bogalusa, La. as a new participant this year.

Picayune Ford Motors dealer Dub "Paw Paw" Herring of Picayune led the auction, assisted by Kelly Sanner of WDAM TV in Hattiesburg. New anchor Jeff Lawson of WLOX TV in Biloxi was master of ceremonies. Local band Dealers' Choice performed for the opening of the event.

Debbie Plache with The Reef Restaurant in Kiln purchased the largest auction item, a 1983 Chevy S-10 pickup truck donated by Ryan Motors Inc. in Hattiesburg.

Wilson said the fund raiser gained 87 percent of the retail value on items auctioned.

Jeanette Crain of Columbia, vice-chair of the Foundation, was chair of The Extravaganza. Doug Mooney of Picayune is chairman and Dr. Homer Moody of Poplarville is secretary/treasurer.

Foundation board members include Ott Brockman and Harrison Ford of Hattiesburg, Jim Thriffley of Bay St. Louis, LaRue Sautters and Tony Waits of Prentiss, Bruce Duck of Pur-vis, Sid Malone of Hattiesburg, Berlon Lee of Columbia, Larry Barker and John Pigott of Picayune and Bob Applewhite of Poplarville, Lewis Murray of Bogalusa and Emmett Foxworth of Marrero.

Simple steps for cleaner air and waterways

April 22 is Earth Day. If you're a boat owner, a good way to observe it is to do your part to reduce pollutants that end up in our air and waters, advises 485,000-member BOAT-U.S. (Boat Owners Association of The United States), the nation's largest organization of recreational boaters. Here's what you can do:

- Run a cleaner engine by keeping it tuned to the manufacturer's specifications, using the right size propeller and proper octane fuel, and by operating at speeds within your engine's most efficient range. This will help reduce underwater exhaust emissions from boat engines which can go into the air or remain suspended in the water.

- At the dock, clean your deck and hull with products that are less toxic and biodegradable.

Environmentally safer boat cleaning products are widely available at marine supply stores and cost about the same as products containing harmful acids, oils, phosphates and solvents.

- Stow it, don't throw it. Keep all trash on board and dispose of it properly on shore. Floating trash not only looks bad, it can harm wildlife. Be sure all fishing lines return to port with you.

- Never discharge oil, gas or coolant into the water. Recycle waste oil and use an oil-soaking pillow in the bilge to catch leaks and prevent spills. Just one spilled quart of oil can cover three football fields of water surface in no time.

- Watch your wake. Excessive boat speed causes wakes that contribute to shoreline erosion.

Preparing for a comfortable retirement

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following column will be published weekly. Topics will be addressed by various professionals in the community on a rotating basis.

Planning for your retirement may be your most important financial planning goal. If you contributed to the "spend and debt" era of the eighties, you probably haven't set aside the time or the money to plan for your retirement. It's time to take action since being financially unprepared for retirement can become an overwhelming fear.

Fear of "outliving your money" is not restricted to baby boomers. It's also a pressing concern of older Americans; second only to the individual's concern for personal health and the health of a spouse.

Too often people underestimate the cost of securing a comfortable retirement.

Now, consider the following. Will your current investments properly prepare you for a comfortable retirement? Look at your current cost of living.

- How many vacations do you currently take each year?

- How much do you spend annually in restaurants?

- How often do you purchase a new car?

If you anticipate continuing to enjoy these luxuries when you retire, determine the amount you'll need each month to meet your objective. Don't forget to take into account the amount of money you would like to leave to your heirs.

This "retirement figure" should become your investment goal. If your current investment plan comes up short, consider how to increase your retirement dollars.

Today, the responsibility for retirement planning is shifting to the individual. Unfortunately, numerous studies show that most individuals are unprepared.

In fact, Americans of every age, income level and family status are facing serious financial difficulties when they attempt to retire. Are you at risk?

Individuals without a company retirement plan are at risk. People without a retirement plan can expect to have just 24% of what they need to retire comfortably.

Middle income families are at risk. Couples earning $25,000 to $100,000 can expect to earn a lower percentage of what they'll need than those with higher or lower incomes.

Single women are at risk. Single women earn an average of 30% less than what men earn and save less of their income.

Since women have longer life expectancies, they have longer retirements to plan for and greater income requirements.

What can you do? The most important step you can consider taking is to shift more assets into growth-oriented investments.

Although investing for growth entails more risk than income-oriented investing, it can provide the opportunity for greater returns over the long-term.

A study conducted by a leading fund management group shows that the more individuals save in growth-oriented investments, the greater their potential to maintain their standard of living in retirement.

The study also underscores the importance of participating fully in retirement plans — no matter what kind of plan is available.

St. Jude's Bike-A-Thon set for Pearlington

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital has announced plans for the Pearlington "Wheels For Life" Bike-A-Thon.

Mrs. Orealia Marshall will serve as coordinator May 21 and encourages all residents to support this important community effort.

The hospital, founded in 1962 by the late entertainer Danny Thomas, is the largest childhood cancer and treatment success.

Funding for the treatment and research programs conducted at St. Jude Hospital comes primarily from public support of events such as the bike-a-thon.

This year's poster child, seven-year-old Shauna Richers, represents all of the patients treated at this world-renowned pediatric research and treatment facility.

Shauna was diagnosed with Wilms' tumor, a malignant growth on her left kidney in December 1990.

She is in remission from her cancer and completed chemotherapy in June 1991.

She is doing well and returns to St. Jude Hospital every six months for checkups.

Shauna celebrated her last chemotherapy treatment with a present she had eagerly looked forward to: a new bike.

All residents and businesses are encouraged to lend their support to the hospital by making a contribution or by becoming a rider.

For further information call Marshall at 533-7905, or Diane Nicholson at 533-5514.

U.S. Navy pays tribute to heroic submariner

The U.S. Navy's newest Arleigh Burke (DDG 51) Class Aegis guided missile destroyer, DDG 61, is the first warship named to honor the life and service of World War II hero Vice Admiral Lawson P. Ramage, USN, (1909-1990).

In 1944, "Captain Red" became the first living submariner to earn the Congressional Medal of Honor. As commanding officer of the submarine USS Parche (SS 384), he was cited for bravery in a perilous July 1944 predawn surface attack against an enemy convoy off Taiwan.

According to Ramage's Medal of Honor citation, Parche crippled or sank five ships in an enemy convoy during a 46-minute engagement. In later explaining his valor, "Captain Red" said, "I got mad."

More than 20 former crewmembers of SS 384 will be on hand for the christening of "Captain Red's" namesake ship.

Ramage also earned two Navy Crosses and a Bronze Star during his World War II service, and later earned two Distinguished Service Medals, one for his service as Commander, First Fleet, the other for service as Commander, Military Sea Transportation Service (now the Military Sealift Command).

In 1974, Ramage visited Ingalls for the commissioning of a second USS Parche (SSN 683), an Ingalls-built nuclear attack submarine.

Babe Ruth registration to end Thurs.

Final registration to the Bay St. Louis Babe Ruth (13 to 15-year-olds) will be Thursday, April 21, Neil Favre said.

The registration will be from 5:30 to 9 p.m. at the baseball field.

Try-outs will be Sunday, April 24, 4 to 6 p.m. at the Bay High Ball Field.

Registration is open to all residents of Hancock County.

Cast members

Bay St. Louis Little Theater announces cast members for its May 27-28 and June 3-4 productions of "The Cemetery Club," a comedy about three Jewish widows and what happens to their long-time friendships when one becomes involved with a friendly widower. Seated from left are Jackie Magee as Ida, Edith Back as Doris and Sandy Higdon as Lucille. Standing, left, are Ursula Smith as Mildred and Neil Smith as Sam. Nan Ehrbright is director. Becky Rotundo is producer.

Aegis destroyer

When the new Aegis destroyer is christened at Ingalls Shipbuilding Saturday, April 23, the ship will be named "Ramage" in honor of Vice Admiral Lawson P. Ramage, USN (1909-1990), shown here as a Navy Commander receiving the Congressional Medal of Honor from President Franklin D. Roosevelt in January 1945. A world II hero, Ramage, known as "Captain Red," was the first living submariner to earn the Medal of Honor. During the ceremony at Ingalls, Barbara Ramage, widow of VADM Ramage, will sponsor and christen the new ship.

In addition, a schoolwide rally was held during the week where Beta members put on skits and gave speeches letting other students know the benefits of being members of Beta.

These volunteers went to training in the evening for six sessions. Each session included speakers from the local Department of Human Services, court personnel, police department, medical doctors, home economist, Battered Women Clinic, and other agencies that are involved in child abuse prevention. Also included in each session are training manuals and videos.

At the end of training, Youth Court Judge Ann Arras Williamson speaks to the group and welcomes them aboard. She then does the swearing in of each volunteer.

To become a volunteer, call 467-7945 or 467-9747.

Seated, Judge Ann Arras Williamson, Ita Hano, Anthony Hano, Lois Kaigler, Sandra Bernos, Lois Griffin, Patsy Trawira, Larry Smith and CASA coordinator Bobbie Barr.

'Libraries change lives' is 1994 National Library Week theme

Libraries change lives. They have long been a place where people sought to better themselves. Andrew Carnegie believed so strongly in the library's role as "the people's university" that he invested $50 million of his own dollars to build them in some 1,400 communities around the turn of the century.

And our library is no different. A young man, attending the Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College, wrote in a recent note to our director that he often needs various books to help him in his studies. He said "thanks to you and your people for providing me with 'no trouble' efforts in finding the books I need." He will receive his degree in 1995.

Hundreds of school-age children come into the library every afternoon, seeking books, articles and information on all sorts of people, places and things for their assignments, term papers, reports and science projects. One mother said, "The library has always provided my children with information for their school work, but also entertainment for weekends and summer days. Thank you."

And then there are those from other parts of the country who are seeking specific information about this area. Usually they write to the library in that area. One person wrote back: "I wanted to personally thank you for copying the page from the book... I realize that this was not a normal request, nor a normal function performed by library staff members. Hancock County is fortunate to have concerned, cooperative workers in their library association."

Libraries and library supporters across the nation will celebrate the contributions of America's libraries during National Library Week April 17-23. Their message: "Libraries change lives."

Today there are more than 116,219 public, school, college and special libraries in the U.S., many offering an array of sophisticated information resources, such as on-line databases, CD ROMs and videotapes, that Carnegie could scarcely have imagined.

Their mission remains unchanged: to provide the books and other information resources to help people of all ages and backgrounds to live, learn and enrich their lives.

"Information is power. And we librarians are in the business of empowerment," said Prima Plaque, Hancock County Library System director. "And yet some people still don't understand how the library can help with every-day concerns, such as finding a day-care center, preparing a business plan or starting a sugar-free diet. We want everyone to know we are here to help."

Activities during the week will include complimentary refreshments and bookmarks at all three branches Monday through Friday, April 18-22 from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. The staff will depict story book characters at the City-County branch on Wednesday, April 20.

A customer satisfaction survey will also be conducted during the week. "Customer service is the heart of our profession," said Plaque, "and sometimes that means asking questions as well as answering them. We know that we have satisfied customers, and this survey is an attempt to document that fact, to get valuable feedback and to let our customers know we care what they think.

The Hancock County Library System will be participating in this survey with libraries across the country. The survey is sponsored by the American Library Association (ALA) in an attempt to take a national "snapshot" of library customer satisfaction. Results will be reported to ALA May 15. All responses are confidential and will be used solely for the purpose of compiling a national picture of library customer satisfaction to be used for promoting library use and support.

Questions include: How easy is it to find what you need? How helpful is the library staff? How important is the library to you? Estimated time for filling out the survey is three minutes.

More information on National Library Week and its activities is available by calling the library at 467-5282, City-County branch; 467-9240, Waveland; and 255-1724, Kiln.

Bay High Star Student, Star Teacher named

Stacey A. Ockman has been named as a STAR (Student-Teacher Achievement Recognition) Student for the 1993-94 school year by the Mississippi Economic Council, sponsor of the program.

The Bay High School senior was honored during the Education Celebration portion of the MEC's annual membership meeting April 13 in Jackson.

Star students are selected on the basis of academic excellence, American College Test scores and scholastic averages are considered in designation of the school's Star Student, explained Bob Pittman of Jackson, MEC president.

"The STAR Program encourages and promotes academic achievement among Mississippi's high school seniors," he said.

Each Star Student is asked to designate a Star Teacher, the classroom teacher who has made the greatest contribution to the student's scholastic achievement.

Mrs. Pat P. Harris was designated STAR Teacher.

All 300-plus Star students and their Star teachers will receive recognition from the Council; and the top 20 Star students, named All-Star Scholars and their Star Teachers will be presented scholarship awards.

The highlight of the Education Celebration will be the naming of the Mississippi Star Student and Star Teacher.

Funds for the scholarships are provided by the Phil Hardin Foundation of Meridian and Sanderson Farms Inc. of Laurel.
